What a kidding the owners of those two VW's must have taken. But the I something to sustain them. 32 m.p.g. An oir-cooled rear engine the or boiled over or fras, and that carried them (and their strands phoon) up (x) the

They fiercely defended the beetle shape against a thousand jokes. And nolly, they had the sweet satisfaction of seeing one kidder after another m up with a new YW. (in 1967 alone, around 465,000 Americans bought Ws - including station wagons and trucks.)

Those '49ers must be pleased; their VW's are still in style, and they can get parts replaced quickly and inexpensively. (We have literally thousands of parts on hand to fit any year VW.)

Now that you know a few of the reasons why the VW has been such a benomenal success, we suggest you come in and drive one yourself.

"Men see more appealing ways than the priesthood to do good."

Such is the view of a Roman Catholic seminary head, as he surveys the dramatic drop in the number of priests and seminarians.

Since the Second Vatican Council, with more talk of the "priesthood of the layman" and an increas-ing ferment as the church struggles toward renewal, the number of priests is dropping at the very time the Catholic population is growing.

One Catholic educator's view: "The young men are sitting back as if to say which way the priesthood is going."

Will the priesthood change, and what kind of changes can we expect? Will the changes come soon enough to attract the number of clergymen needed? Will there be enough priests, for example, to serve all the parishes?

These are among the questions which John Adam Moreau answers Sunday after an extensive survey of Roman Catholic educators, young priests and seminarians. Be sure to see this searching ex-ploration in Midwest magazine with Sunday's
